Governor Parnell Wants Federal Aid For Rural Children

Advocates Federal Assistance For Education of Farm Kiddies

TO CROWN QUEEN

Miss Sara Choate Queen of Agriculture at Farmers' Week

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark.—(AP)—Federal aid for rural education was advocated by Governor Parnell in two addresses before assemblies of farmers and 4-H club members at the 13th annual Farmers' Week of the University of Arkansas here Thursday.

"We have federal aid for roads, federal aid for raising better hogs and cattle, why not aid for the education of our rural boys and girls?"

He asserted that the school equalization fund should be augmented so as to provide an education for every rural child in the state.

Thursday night the Governor will crown Miss Sara Choate of Greene county as queen of agriculture at the annual pageant to be presented on the university grounds.

Peach Harvest In Highland Near End

Shipments Are Unusually Heavy—Quality Best in History

PRESCOTT.—The peach harvest of the Highland area has been practically completed, with more than 2000 cars having been moved by rail from the Highland center and nearly 100 from the Tokio center. In addition to the rail shipments, peaches that would aggregate several hundred carloads have been moved out by truck, principally to Oklahoma and Texas points. The bulk of the crop also has been moved out from Lockesburg and other localities where there are individually owned orchards.

The entire crop from the Highland orchards in 1931 totaled only 688 cars. There were no shipments in 1930, the cold of the preceding winter having killed the crop. The total 1931 crop for the whole of Arkansas is estimated at between 5000 and 6000 cars.

August 1 was the busiest day of the season for growers, shippers and the railroads, 141 cars moving out through Prescott on that day. Other shipments were made through Ashdown on that day. Since then the orders for cars have been slowly decreasing, Monday only 57 cars were ordered, while the day before there were orders for more than one hundred. It is expected that about 200 more cars will be shipped through Prescott with the shipments continuing through the latter part of next week.

The peaches of this season have been declared to be the finest quality ever known in the history of the Highland and Nashville orchards. These fine peaches have topped all markets in price, although this price is not as high as most growers had hoped for.

Cantaloupes also continue to come in. The crop and shipments have held up remarkably well, considering the excessive amount of rain that has fallen during the busiest part of the harvesting season. A total of 355 cars has been shipped to date and shipments are expected to continue another week. Only 106 cars of cantaloupes were shipped during the entire season of 1930, thirty-two cars of Watermelons have been shipped from Prescott to date as compared with seven for the entire season of 1930.

Twenty-five cars of peaches were shipped from the orchards of Prescott and Nevada county, and the fruit and truck branch experiment station of the University of Arkansas near Hope.

Asked what he plans to do about the charge that Turquette has not paid his poll tax, Governor Parnell said: "Not a thing. ## Lettuce Farmer Finds New Comet

Uses "Toy" Telescope to Locate Something Astronomers Had Missed

BRAWLEY, Cal. (P)—A lettuce and cantaloupe "ranch" foreman by day and an amateur astronomer by night, Masami Nagata will go down in astronomical history as the discoverer of the Nagata comet.

Mt. Wilson scientists recently received a telegram from Nagata, couched in terms of oriental deference. After begging pardon for wasting their time, Nagata asked the observatory authorities if it was possible that he had located a new comet with his small telescope. He gave the position of the supposed new body in the constellation Leo.

Two days later he was informed by Mt. Wilson observers that their powerful telescopes had failed to locate the hazy conglomeration Nagata reported.

The same night Nagata, through his two-inch terrestrial telescope, again located it. Dr. Seth B. Nicholson of Mt. Wilson observatory confirmed the discovery the next day. He described it as being in the constellation of Leo, not far from the star Rho Leonis and in the general direction of Mars, although about ten degrees to the right of that planet.

The importance of the find, he said, could not be determined until its orbit had been calculated. The observatory, however, usually finds three or four new comets yearly.

Nagata, born in Japan near Tokyo June 18, 1886, learned astronomy from his father, who taught the young man as much as possible with limited facilities. Nagata came to the United States in June, 1907, and for the last nine years has coupled his star-gazing with lettuce raising.

Ten years ago he purchased a two-inch terrestrial telescope and each night, after completing his daily labors, turned the magnified eyes skyward.

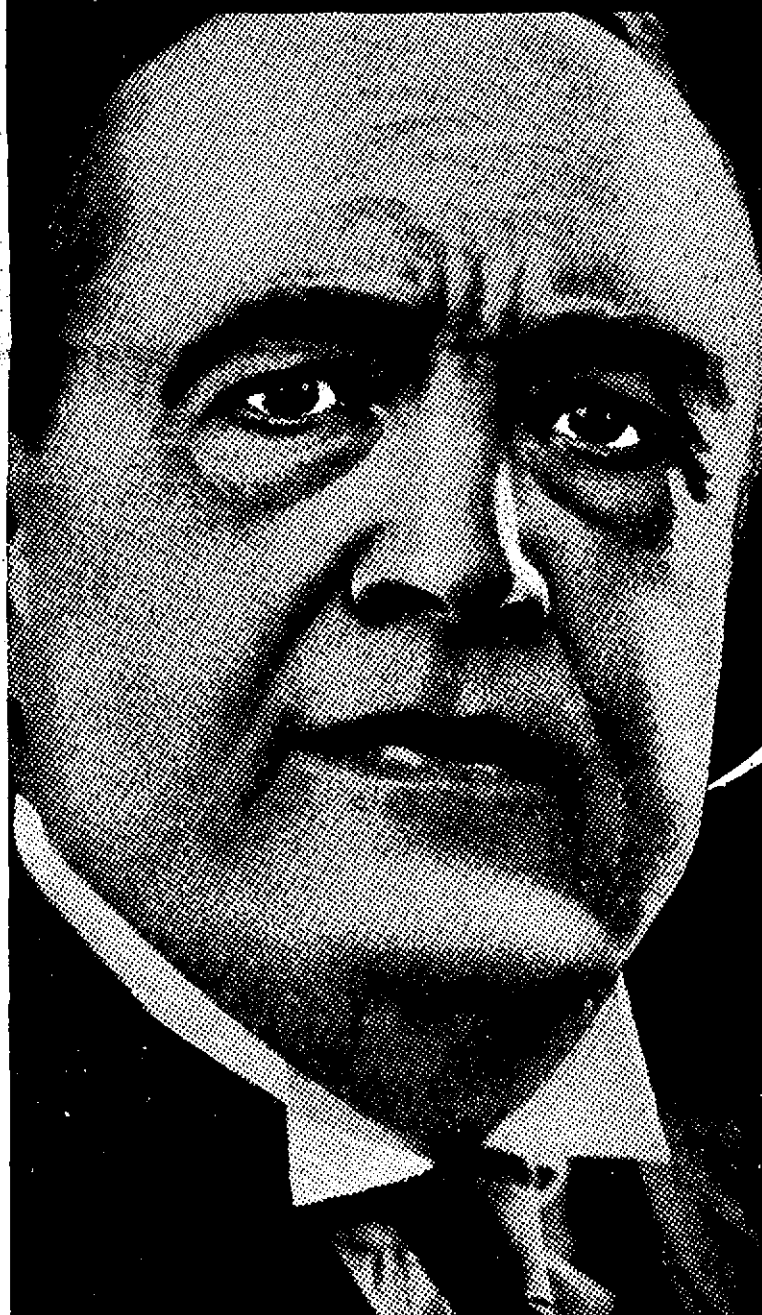

For a finder he utilized an ordinary six-power field glass. Now he intends to build a nine-inch reflecting telescope, using an 80 mm. reflector.

LUCKY STRIKE'S exclusive "TOASTING" Process—a process that mellows, that purifies, that includes the use of the modern Ultra Violet Ray—expels certain harsh irritants naturally present in every tobacco leaf. We sell these expelled irritants to manufacturers of chemical compounds, who use them as a base in making sheep-dip*, as well as a powerful spraying solution for fruits, flowers and shrubs—enough to permit the daily dipping of over 50,000 sheep or the daily spraying of many thousands of trees. Thus, you are sure these irritants, naturally present in all tobacco leaves, are not in your LUCKY STRIKE. "They're out—so they can't be in!" No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.

HOOKS AND SLIDES

Babe Says Those Robins Will Win

LAST year Babe Ruth picked our ball team to finish seventh. Our manager, Uncle Wilbert Robinson, went over to the Yankee dugout one afternoon and asked him to explain that slander.

Our team, if you must know, is the Brooklyn Robins. It has been our team ever since the springtime when your correspondent was beguiled by the bawling of hats at Clearwater where Robie had his men in training—was so beguiled in fact as to pick the team to win the National League pennant in this year of reverse prosperity, 1931.

But Why?

WELL, last year when Uncle Robbie called and asked the Bambino to tell him why he had named the greatest ball team Robie ever managed to wind up perfectly close to the eighth ball, the Babe retorted:

"I'm picking your clowns for seventh because the Phils can't be hauled out of that cellar. If the Phils could win a few ball games you'd be eighth."

To which Uncle Robbie, in high dudgeon, replied:

"We'll have a better standing than you high hat Yankees when this season's over."

They Fooled Him

WELL, as it turned out, the Robins won 86 ball games last year and lost 68. And the Yankees? Maybe you didn't notice it, but they also won exactly 86 ball games and lost 68. Old Robbie came very close to making his prediction good.

This year the Robins have Brooklyn will win the flag. He said it even before the season started, and the other day in New York he told me he had not wavered.

And why should he? Such power cannot be squelched forever. One of these days soon those large logs will start booming in unison, and things will be just too bad.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

UNLESS my onions are all awry, Freddie Miller will win the world's featherweight championship from But Battalino at Redland Field, Cincinnati, the night of July 23. And But Battalino will win it back in near old Hartford, Conn., some time later. Have I been crystal-gazing? Maybe. . . . Do I patronize clairvoyants? That could be. . . . A student of the stars? . . . That's possible. . . . Am I wrong? . . . That's possible, too. . . . But do you suppose I'd be telling you if I didn't think I was right?

Clark Is Inspiration

LEADING in the drive of the Robins is that iron man of the mound, Lefty Watson Clark, and it is his best southpaw in the National League today, who is?

It is true that until this year his record hasn't been quite like Lefty Grove's, but he recently started on a hot streak during which he was unbeatable. When I looked at the averages the other day the Dodgers, in third place, were batting sixth and Clark had won eight games, six of 'em in a row. What will pitchers like Clark, Vance, Shauts, Lague, Phelps, Quinn and Thurston do when the club's hitters start finding themselves?

Clark, a Louisiana boy, is only 26 years old. Working in 40 ball games a season is pie for him.

He got his start pitching for Mississippi College and Cleveland gave him a tryout in 1924, sending him to Terre Haute. Iron Man McGinnity, posing around the Three-Eye, sent him to Uncle Robbie in 1926. His record of 49 wins against 46 losses up to 1931 does not indicate his real effectiveness, for Clark has always been a hard-luck pitcher.

Now that he is on the winning trail, look out for him—and for the Robins.

Conway Pitcher Is Nemesis For Hope

Smith Holds Locals to 3 Hits and They Lose Game, 6 to 1

FORT SMITH.—Smith, Conway's undefeated pitching star, held the Hope Junior League to three hits Wednesday and eliminated the Hempstead couple team from the finals for the American Legion Junior League championship of the state, 6 to 1.

Kennedy, the Hope pitcher yielded 11 hits, which he kept well-scattered except in the fourth and fifth innings, when Conway got five of its six runs. Fort Smith defeated Harrisburg 7 to 1 in the other game of the finals Wednesday—and Fort Smith and Conway will play off the state championship Thursday.

Pasture Supplies Best Dairy Ration

Speaker Outlines Nitrogen Needs and Other Plant Foods

PAYETTEVILLE, Ark.—A well-fertilized pasture supplies a better balanced ration and produces more milk per cow than any dairy ration ever devised.

It was the assertion made here Wednesday by Dr. Firman E. Bear, director, Agricultural Research, the American Cyanamid Company, in an address before the annual Arkansas Farmers Week. Dr. Bear in urging Arkansas farmers to give more consideration to the problem of pasture management, made a special appeal for fertilization with nitrogen, superphosphate, potash and lime.

"If one applies nitrogen to the pasture, the grass not only transforms this nitrogen into protein but also produces additional carbohydrates and fat from the water of the soil and the carbon dioxide of the air," he said. "Probably not more than 50 per cent of the nitrogen applied the first year will be recovered in protein form in the grass of that season. The other 50 per cent will be consumed by the nitrogen-starved roots of the weeds, grass, cover and by the micro-organisms of the soil. However, if the pasture is ever plowed and planted to some other crop, that stored in the soil will be recovered in that crop. It is not lost in the drainage. When nitrogen is added the grass comes on more quickly, it develops earlier in the spring, is better during the dry summer period, last longer in the fall, there is considerably more of it and usually it is much higher in protein.

"But nitrogen alone does not meet the requirements. Superphosphate, lime and potash bring in the clovers, gradually improve the sod and meet the ordinary requirements quite satisfactorily.

"It is my impression from having examined pastures in many different states and countries that reseeded and cultivating the pasture are not so important as that the grass and clover already present be supplied with phosphoric acid, potash and lime. It is surprising to note the rate at which the clover and grass crowd out the weeds, once fertilizer and lime have been applied, and particularly if the policy of rotational grazing is adopted."

Dr. Bear pointed out that the quantity of nitrogen which one can use on pastures to advantage is determined largely by the intensity of his farming. He stressed the fact that this element is much less expensive than formerly and that it is available in a variety of forms suited to the several needs.

"Any tendency for prices of livestock and their products to rise will be met by the use of additional nitrogen on permanent pastures on the part of those farmers who recognize the possibilities for profit in its use," he concluded.

Rewards totaling $250 had been offered for his capture. He was sentenced to die in the electric chair last April, but the execution was stayed when he appealed to the supreme court.

Cancer Clue Found In Color of Fish

Cornell Scientists Find Fish Develop "Toy Size" Cancer

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)

ITHACA, N. Y.—(AP)—The bright-hued Mexican killifish gives a new clue for the study of cancer to Cornell university scientists. His color is one of the keys to the problem.

This fish develops a "toy size" type of cancer, having the same wild cell growth which causes the human disease. This miniature is believed to hold the secret of unrestrained cells, in a simplified form that may be studied successfully.

The work is in charge of Dr. H. D. Reed, professor of zoology, and Dr. Myron Gordon, with aid of funds from an August Heckscher grant. They find that two kinds of cells gather to form the fish cancer, one type being those carrying the black color pigments.

These color cells, macro-melanophores, occur in several strains of these fish and may remain perfectly normal. Whether they are passive accomplices, merely stimulated by the presence of the other cells, or are more closely allied with the primary cause is undetermined.

In this Cornell laboratory a distinct heredity of killifish cancer has been developed, which is not found in nature. It is produced by mating certain types of the fish, which yields offspring 50 per cent of which have tumors. In nature the fish which would produce the result apparently do not mate.

Breeding also may be controlled to prevent development of cancer in these fishes. It appears, Dr. Reed states, that certain varieties of the fish provide the cells, called macro-melanophores, that are associated with abnormal growth. Other varieties of cells furnish in their inheritance something which appears to aggravate this growth.

By proper selection the heritable factors for producing the disease may be avoided.

Increased in weight by absorption in transit to the Atlantic seaboard sufficiently to pay the freight charges.
